PROSPECTUS WEEKLY NATIONAL REPUBLICAN.

The undersigned commenced, in the month of December, 1880, the publication, in the monas of December, 1880, the publication, in this city, of a weekly newspaper, called the Motional Re-

It coutains all the original matter of the Daily National Republican, with the exception of local news not interesting to country sub-

It will give full resourts of the proceedings of Congress, and of the other Departments of the National Government.

It contains all the news of the day, foreign and domestic, markets, &c., &c., as well as at original correspondence from All parts of the country. The miscellaneous department will receive special attention, and, in all respects, the effort will be made to establish the character of the National Republican as a Family

Washington being now the central point of the current military operations, great attention will be paid to furnishing the readers of the National Republican with full, and especially with accurate, accounts of the progress of the war for the Union. In politics, the paper is Republican, sustaining the Administration of Mr. Lincoln. There is no other Republican paper in the District of Columbia, or in the vicinity of it, and it is beligred that recent events have opened to such a paper an important sphere of useful effort. The time has come, when the actua administration of the Government upon Repub Hean principles will explode the misrepresen tations which have made those principles distateful to the Bouth But it is not only here, and in this vicinity, that the projectors of the National Republican hope to make it useful. To the whole country they offer a journal which will discuss national politics from a national stand-point, and which will never be awarred from gatriotic daty by any overpowering pressure of local interest. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

We have already observed on the opposite spirit of the two proclemations with which the Fresidents of the rival Confederacies insurgurated the year. A word or two more on the Southern proclemation may not, however, seem unseasonable. The one protest for the barbarous decrees of death with which it is interspected in the conduct of Gen. Butler at New Orleans. Its first decrees is the sentence of death pronounced against him whenever he is captured. So unusual a measure requires a wonderfully strong case for its justification. Now we have no desire to canonize Gen. Butler, or even to make out a very good case for him. But what excuse can be found for so extreme a deviation from the rules of war-in reference to his case? The execution of Mr. Mumford is really the only solvenable pretext. Occupying a city with an immemase population, a city bitterly hostile to the Northern cause, a city where his life was constantly in danger from the harred of many of the inhabitants—with every pretext which capitity or revenge could desire for inflicting death or wholessic confiscation as the penalty of rebellion—Gen. Butler is not even charged by his accesser with a single other act of blood.

Now Mumford was doubtless guilty of an act of the capital offense. Mercy might have dictated a milder yous instead of the city, must be construed into a capital offense. Mercy might have dictated a milder yous instead of nearest confiscation as the city, must be construed into a capital offense. Mercy might have dictated a milder yous instead of nearest confiscation as a confined on the city, must be construed into a capital offense. Mercy might have dictated a milder yous instead of nearest confiscation as a confined on the city, must be construed into a capital offense. Mercy might have dictated a milder yous instead of nearest confiscation as a confiscation of the reason and of nearly the construence of the confined of the city must be const offence. Merey might have dictated a middle punishment. But military rule is not sparing of life, and example might well be pleaded as a reason for severity. It was necessary at doce to show the the Northeru Government was not to be triffed with, and General Butler deemed this the beat mode of proving it. As to the legal r. Shement that the Fr derails were not form; in possession of the place, [theems, leasmuch as their actual possession is not disputed, rather the proceeding. But erre supposing the pies to be proceeding. But erre supposing the pies to be yailed, is deen. Butler at the beated upon a legal quiestion on which probably the ablest and honestest lawyers would find it impossible to come to an agreement I begond this case, however, there is not a single excuse for the proclamation as regards Gen. Butler. It is language about the treatment of New Orienns ladles was such as a man of refinement could not have used.

But nobody excuse a restantiation as a man of refinement could not have the proposed and the same and the sa
